ROMA PAIN DAYS (#RPD24) Not Only Science

The Organizing Committee eagerly invites you to the #RPD24. This congress is more and more appreciated and is becoming a well-established tradition. Considering the tremendous success of the 2023 edition, with over 1900 participants, the Paolo Procacci Foundation Executive Board has decided to organize it again on June 13-15, 2024, in the same venue. As for the previous editions, in 2024, the congress will be hybrid to guarantee the possibility of professional growth to Colleagues not having the possibility to join the in-presence event in Roma.

The scientific program will be even more intriguing this year than in previous editions. One of the Congress Center rooms will be fully dedicated to "Meet-the-Expert" sessions, during which one of the components of the faculty will be available to provide a presentation, followed by a discussion with the participants. Hence, the congress will be more interactive with the audience proactively participating in disseminating updated scientific knowledge. Of course, the "Experts" will be scientific personalities highly recognized at the international level for the impact of their research. The Scientific Program Committee (SPC) is already convinced that this initiative will be highly appreciated by the participants, both in presence and online. The Paolo Procacci Foundation is more than happy to offer the optimal platform of confrontation to the numerous Colleagues willing to have an open discussion with real experts and acquire the knowledge to increase their clinical abilities.

As for the previous editions, the auditorium will be partially dedicated to the sponsored sessions. Anyone is conscious of how important such sessions are for the ethical diffusion of essential messages for better therapy, especially in pain patients. The program will be thrilling, as in the past, and the organizers are more than sure of the scientific success of the congress.

Paolo Procacci Foundation is grateful to all the Members of the Scientific Committee, the Local Organizing Committee, and the international and extended network that is appreciating the initiative, but especially it is grateful to all the Sponsors. With their support, the diffusion of new scientific advancements in Pain Medicine is much easier. We are excited to meet.

Giustino Varrassi

President, Paolo Procacci Foundation
